Coffee County Sheriff's Office arrests two in Car City arson from January

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Sheriff's Office held a press conference Thursday morning, Feb. 18, announcing two arrests in the Car City arson from January 12, 2021.

The auto sales business is located at 650 U.S. Hwy 231, Brundidge, Ala.; however, it is located in Coffee County. Therefore, the initial investigative agency on this alleged arson was the Coffee County Sheriff's Office.

Coffee County Chief Deputy R.W. Whitworth said the investigation revealed incident initially began Monday, Jan. 11, when a vehicle was reported stolen from Car City, and deputies with the Coffee County Sheriff's Office took a report on that stolen vehicle. Then, around 4 a.m. Tuesday morning, Jan. 12, a call came in reporting a fire at Car City with multiple buildings on fire.

Whitworth said two mechanic shops and an office were found burning, along with multiple vehicles at the business. He said the office contained vehicle titles and other items necessary for operating a business.

Charles Jones

"Nine fire departments responded to the scene," Whitworth said. "They did a fantastic job containing the fire."

As the smoke settled, Whitworth said Coffee County Sheriff's Office investigators teamed up with the Alabama Fire Marshal's Office, ATF, Pike County Sheriff's Office, Dale County Sheriff's Office, Brundidge Police, ALEA, and other agencies to establish a crime scene and begin the investigation into the alleged arson.

After the fire, Whitworth said officers discovered that another vehicle in addition to the one reported stolen on Jan. 11th also had been taken from Car City. He said it had not been realized that a second vehicle was missing until after the fire. Alabama State Fire Marshal Scott Pilgreen said his office received a request from Coffee County to come in and help investigate this crime.

"All these agencies involved...their collaborative effort, it take an effort like that with everyone coming together to get where we are today," Pilgreen said.

Whitworth said it was with great fortune that the details all came together, and led to the arrest of two suspects on Tuesday, Feb. 16, regarding the Car City arson.

He said Charles Jones, age 45, of Clio, Ala., was arrested and charged with two counts of arson second

Coffee County Habitat for Humanity dedicates new home in Elba in memory of Paul Morrow

by Linda Hodge, Editor

Tawanna Thomas of Elba received the keys to her new home Sunday, Feb. 21, as Habitat for Humanity of Coffee County, Alabama held a dedication ceremony for the Thomas family.

The new Habitat home is located at 537 Adkinson Street in Elba. Ms. Thomas and her two children, Kentana and Kendre, are the proud recipients.

"I want to say thank you for coming out today," Thomas said Sunday during the ceremony. "This has been a long journey...a stressful journey, but through it all I have made it...me and my kids."

She added that she was overjoyed to be selected as the recipient of the home, and she said she could not thank God enough.

Coffee County Habitat board members Charlene

Goolsby noted that it truly had been a long journey for the Thomas family. She said Thomas' application was turned in on Aug. 15, 2018, and she was approved to be the recipient in June 2019. A groundbreaking for the construction of the home was held in June 2020.

Then, Goolsby said the obstacles began creating havoc, including the COVID-19 pandemic.

"It has taken us nine months to finish this house," Goolsby said. She said it normally takes around six months for a Habitat home to be built. She thanked Thomas for her patience throughout the process.

During Sunday's ceremony, it was noted that the sod still needed to be put down for the yard, and the driveway still needed to be poured; however, the home was ready for its family to move in and begin enjoying it.

This home also holds special meaning to another Elba family as it is being dedicated in the memory of the late Paul Morrow. Several members of the Morrow family were in attendance Sunday for the dedication ceremony.

"This house is a special house," said Habitat board member Daniel Stephens. "It is going to be dedicated to the memory of a great guy, Mr. Paul Morrow."

He said Morrow was a special guy, and his door was always open to others.

"He was a committed man, a disciple of the Lord, a good son, husband, father, grandfather, friend, and that list goes on and on," Stephens said. "[Paul Morrow] loved unconditionally."

Stephens said his and Morrow's walk with Habitat began in 1998 when a group in Elba began discussing the idea of starting a Habitat for Humanity program. He said

With Ferrin Cox

"Much has been given us, and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves; and we can shirk neither." - Theodore Roosevelt, Presidential Inauguration, 1905

As many of our readers already know we lost our life partner of 57 years last week when wife Heddy died after an extended battle with that life destroying thing called Alzheimer's. My heart has been gladdened by the many warm and loving comments from many of those who knew her.

It is a given that there is no cure and that death is the ultimate result of that relentless attack of the disease on the brain. However, when death is staring you in the face in those last days and hours of life, alarm bells ring and every other emotion in your body reacts. You are not ready to let them go but at the same time know you have no choice. Also, if you knew Heddy as we knew her, you would know without a doubt that she had no desire to remain on earth under the condition her mind and by extension, her body, was in. Many "what if" discussions we had together during our many years of marriage and her formal 20-year-old "Living Will" made it crystal clear that she believed there were things far worse than death.

I am sad over her illness and death but not bitter. Had she dropped dead several years ago I would have been filled with guilt. Guilt that I had not always shown my love and appreciation for her. With the Alzheimer's dictating her needs, I am grateful to have been able to demonstrate that love, appreciation and loyalty to, and for her. While she probably didn't fully understand what was happening, I did and am grateful for the opportunity to make her last years less traumatic. Yet that did not equal her years of loyal, dedicated contributions to our lives.

Her loyal devotion was jokingly displayed with her timing on having children. The first one's pending arrival was announced to the new dad on Tuesday night after the paper layout was completed and she was born Wednesday afternoon after the paper was printed. The same game plan was followed with the middle child, arriving only after the paper went "to bed". Only the youngest son altered the master plan, arriving with the aid of medical technology on Valentine's Day right in the middle of the (then) all-important annual meeting of the Coffee County Democratic Committee and their launching of election activities.

She seemed to maintain that sensitivity to obligations by actually waiting to die until family members had returned home and just hours after the weekly paper was in the mail. We had three significant understandings as our life moved on. Number One was that if I ever had the urge to hit her, we had been together one day too long - and that urge never came close to happening. Number Two was if one of us made a decision with/or about the children the other would not countermand that decision - and we each honored this. Number Three was that there could only be one 'boss' at the newspaper and we agreed that I was the newspaper guy - and that never changed or was challenged yet she kept me from making a fool of myself more than once. Our marriage was a great one in our opinion and we grew much closer (or had more time to enjoy our closeness) as a couple after the children all entered adulthood. When the Alzheimer's became obvious, we chose for her to stay at home if at all possible and that happened. At first nothing else was considered by either of us, later nothing else was acceptable for me but to be her full-time caregiver, remembering my granddaddy's words "until death do us part" as he was performing the wedding. That included patience during those last weeks with the very slow process of placing small bits of food in her mouth at mealtimes and encouraging her to chew. Each of us took that wedding vow to mean what it said, and it matched our desires to a "T". I continued working, and with some adjustments to schedules over the last few years, was able to have her travel with me virtually all of the time, right up to the end. There was no issue with her giving up the freedom afforded with driving her car. One day she walked in, dropped her car keys on the desk and announced her driving days were over - and they were. She never drove her car again, nor indicated a desire to do so.

The memory of so many heartwarming emotions and married life events go on and on and will remain in our heart and mind until death or aging robs us of them. To all of you who have been patient with us through this process, expressed your condolences, or shared your own memories of Heddy's big smile and unwavering kindness, our children and I say thanks.

God Bless

Some political pundits were quick to criticize a newly-elected U.S. senator who said in an interview the three branches of government are the "House, the Senate and the executive." OK, so his words weren't precise. Does this define the man? I hope not since all of us make verbal gaffes from time-to-time.

I just finished a new biography of President Carter. Author Jonathan Alter reminded readers of Carter's intended tribute to the late Sen. Hubert Humphrey in the president's renomination convention in 1980. By mistake, Carter called him the fictional "Hubert Horatio Hornblower." Carter said later the negative reporting he received might as well have labeled him the Disney character "Goofy." Carter is a great man and shouldn't be defined by a single gaffe.

A person's life isn't measured by occasional tongue flubs. I want to believe this since I've made my share. One issue with speaking in churches and classrooms as many of us do is there's no "cutting room floor" where edits can be made. Though many of our churches have been broadcasting during Covid, most of us are not ready for prime-time TV! If we were, we could edit out the verbal gaffes, sneezes and jokes that didn't work.

Consider the disciple whom many call their favorite, Simon Peter. Do you remember the time he stood in the courtyard, warming by the fire and denied he even knew the now-arrested Jesus of Nazareth? Preachers a generation ago used to talk about Peter "warming by the devil's fire." And he was. When his denials fell flat, he cursed like the sailor he was to definitively demonstrate that he didn't follow Jesus.

But fortunately, Peter repented. And he found forgiveness. On the Day of Pentecost he took renewed strength and served Christ faithfully until the day Nero gave the order of execution.

To Peter, Jesus gave the "keys of the kingdom." The keeper of the kingdom was there at momentous times. He was there when the Holy Spirit was given to the church, when the Holy Spirit was given to Samaritans and when the Holy Spirit was given to gentiles. He was there when the church finally "got it" and welcomed all nations to Christ.

Tradition says Peter became the pastor of the church in Jerusalem and was given opportunity to recant his faith under threat of death. He refused to deny Jesus again, and was sentenced to crucifixion. Tradition further records he felt unworthy to die as Jesus did, and requested he be crucified head down.

Christian history would be vastly different if we judged Peter the rest of his life by words spoken in haste. He found grace and another opportunity to serve.

So can we all.

Reflections is a weekly devotional column written by Michael J. Brooks, pastor of the Silaria Baptist Church in Alabaster, Ala.

Cuzin Lou Lou heard of a couple of different stories lately where those 'ole mean scammers were working overtime to try and convince someone to give out personal information...fortunately, the good guys were too smart to fall victim. This time, at least.

Scammers are nothing new. They've been trying to find ways to cheat someone out of his/her stuff for longer than most of us are old. Every time one scam runs it's course...another is already beginning to target people.

Lou Lou even found herself in a situation recently where some scammer, thief, or whatever you want to call 'em tried to use her debit card number to make some transactions. Fortunately, the bank's fraud system caught on to these erroneous transactions in time to prevent them from going through, but that did not keep Lou Lou from expressing some choice words for the culprits.

Didn't really do any good for her to get upset and wish uncontrollable diarrhea upon the scammer, but it sure made Lou Lou feel better imagining that her wish came true.

It was irritating to her to have to go through the process of obtaining a new debit card and making the necessary changes that go along with a new card; but, in the end, her scam story ended well as no damage was done to Lou Lou or to her bank account...thank goodness!

What really puts a burr under Lou Lou's saddle, though, is when she gets a report from an elderly person that has become prey to a scammer. Often times, these are good, generous people that have worked hard and long for all they have...yet someone that sits around 24/7 trying to think of ways to steal is preying upon these good folks.

More and more, Lou Lou is hearing that today's scammer has become extremely belligerent with the target...using scare tactics to force the person to 'give up' his/her information. The more Lou Lou thinks about these things, the more upset she becomes, and she sure would love to pass out a few knuckle sandwiches to said scammer.

Lou Lou shares this information today for the purpose of encouraging her readers to not allow a scammer to take you to the cleaners. If you receive a phone call from someone asking for personal information [i.e. bank account info, social security number, etc.] do not provide that info over the telephone unless you know exactly with whom you are speaking. Most of the time, if it is a legit call from a legit organization, the person calling will never ask for that kind of info over the telephone in the first place.

If the scammer threatens legal action or says you are going to jail if you do not do as they say... call their bluff. Tell them to bring it on! Then, you make contact with the organization in which that have said will "come get you" and ask if that was correct information.

The best way to handle it though...hang up on them! Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

At an early age, Catherine was introduced to music lessons when her parents traded their cow's milk for music instruction.

In her own words: "A bargain was struck, and eight years later, I played Beethoven's 'Moonlight Sonata' in my senior recital, valedictorian of my graduating class. I was sent to Judson College." With her heart set on a music career, she followed her younger sister, Eugenia, to New York in 1944, eventually enrolled at the Juilliard School for a summer, and later at the Graduate School of Music at Columbia University, earning a Master's degree in music. During the Coffee County Commission meeting held Monday, Feb. 22, in New Brockton, EMA director James Brown said numbers regarding COVID-19 are fortunately getting better.

However, he encouraged citizens to not get complacent even though the number of cases are declining locally and statewide, and he further encouraged getting the COVID vaccine.

Statewide, Brown said new cases were down to about a quarter of what they were a month ago. He said that is very encouraging.

As for Coffee County, he said 132 new cases were gained in the last two week - averaging about nine per day. About a month ago, he said the county was gaining an average of 55 new COVID cases per day.

"With the numbers dropping, we don't want people to become complacent," Brown said. "Get the vaccine if you can."

He followed this by saying the county had a 1.8 percent death rate from the COVID virus. Looking at nine new cases per day, he said that equates to about one death per week.

"That is still too many to me," Brown said.

He did note, however, that the death rate seemingly had been on the decline over the past week or so too. He said he hoped that would continue.

"Hospitals also are looking better," Brown said. "About 7.5 percent of [current] hospitalizations are COVID-related. That is really coming down from where it was about a month ago, and we are happy to see that."

Also, as of Monday morning, Brown said it appeared about 14.5 percent of the county's population had received at least the first dose of the COVID vaccine.

He added that officials were hopeful for the Johnson and Johnson vaccine to get FDA approval real soon allowing for more vaccine availability.

In other news from the Coffee County Commission, commissioners approved the reappointments of James Liptrot and Dan Stokes to the Coffee County Water Authority Board during Monday's meeting. These are 6-year terms set to expire March 1, 2027.

The next Coffee County Commission meeting will be Monday, March 8, at 9 a.m. in the community room of the county complex in New Brockton.

Do I Have to Use a Funeral Home to Be Buried in a Cemetery?

Memorializing and ultimately burying a deceased relative can be an emotionally intensive process. As you grieve, the last thing you want is to feel overwhelmed by practical and logistical concerns. That's the primary reason why most individuals choose to coordinate memorial and burial services through a local funeral home. Simply put, your funeral director can handle the practicalities on your behalf, giving you the time and space you need to mourn and to spend time with your family members.

Indeed, your funeral director will handle logistical issues you may not have even thought of, and shouldn't have to - issues like transporting your loved one, ensuring the gravesite is ready for the burial, coordinating with the cemetery owner, and more. As you think about working with a funeral director, consider all of these pragmatic concerns that can effectively be taken off your plate.

Something else to consider is that funeral homes are required by the FTC to provide you with a list of prices for each separate service - meaning you have the right to choose which funeral services you want and which ones you don't. As such, you can decide to conduct a vigil or graveside service yourself, but still enlist a funeral home to help with moving the body, ensuring the proper casket, etc.

If you have any questions about the specific ways in which a funeral home can help you, simply reach out to your local funeral director today; let them know your wishes and discover some of the ways they can work with you to meet those wishes.

CHURCH and COMMUNITY

PASTOR'S CORNER

by Dwight Johnson, Lead Pastor
Elba First Assembly of God • 1320 Highland Drive

One thing that is easy to do in Bible study is to read over familiar passages and not reflect on how they apply to our lives. One example is Genesis 1:1 - "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." We know that verse well. After all, it is the first verse in the Bible; the introduction to a story that we've heard and read for years. But, it happened so long ago. What could it mean to us today? Let's take a look.

"In the beginning." There have been many beginnings of many things for many people. But, this wasn't just a beginning - this was THE beginning, the beginning of all beginnings! In college I learned about the Literal (24 hour) Day theory of creation, the Day Age theory, the Revelation Day theory, etc. Regardless of how or when it happened, at first glance, this "beginning" sometimes doesn't seem to have a great deal of personal or contemporary relevance. But it teaches something that we need to know: God is a God of new beginnings. If he could be present and active in this big beginning, we can be confident that he can create new beginnings for us. God gives fresh starts, second chances, new life, and new hope. He offers you and I new beginnings.

"God." The earth "was without form, and void." But, the beginning didn't happen in a void. God was there. That is why things began to take shape, and make sense. Even when things seem crazy in our lives, and nothing has structure or form, when God steps in, things begin to change. Order begins, and from order comes the framework of God's creative purpose, which leads us to the next key word.

"Created." It is hard to understand how God created so much out of nothing, but he did. Hebrews 11:3 tells us "... what we now see did not come from anything that can be seen." For us, this simply means that God doesn't need much of anything to do a lot of things. So, we give him what little we have. We give him our failures and messes. He takes them, the little and the ugly, and creates something big and beautiful. When his power, his creativity, and his love combine, it is amazing to see what he can do.

So, the seemingly generic first verse of the Bible says an awful lot. It speaks loudly, clearly, and with encouragement. It speaks to us. Let it speak to you.

New Glorious COGIC plans to hold Clothes Closet event on Feb. 27th

Louis Franklin Sr., U.S. Attorney for the Middle District of Alabama speaks at the press conference held last Thursday morning at the Coffee County Sheriff's Office regarding arrests made in the Car City fire on Jan. 12, 2021. Also pictured is Coffee County Chief Deputy R.W. Whitworth.

degree - each county carrying a $60,000 bond, and two counts of theft of property first degree - each count carrying a $60,000 bond. Also, Dezarae Wiggins, age 31, of Clio, Ala., was arrested and charged with two counts of arson second degree - each count carrying a $60,000 bond, and one count of theft of property - carrying a $60,000 bond.

Both suspects were booked into the Coffee County Jail at 5:46 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 16 on these charges, and Whitworth said more arrests could come at a later date as the investigation continues.

Whitworth said at least $750,000 worth of damage resulted to Car City property as a result of this fire/arson, if not more than that.

Jennifer Redden Conway, resident agent in charge of the ATF Montgomery Field Office, said her office provided a certified state fire investigator and other personnel to assist with this case. She said the investigation moved along like a 'well-oiled machine' and that is why arrests came so quickly in this ongoing investigation.

Also speaking at last Thursday's press conference was Louis Franklin Sr., U.S. Attorney for the Middle District of Alabama.

"Our role is a supportive role at this point," Franklin said. "One thing that allows us to investigate crimes like these is to partner with local agencies."

He said he could not say as of last week if the Car City case would be a federal case or not, but he did confirm his office is involved to help if needed.

"Arson is a hard crime to solve...very hard," Whitworth said. "It makes you proud when you see these kind of things come together like this. I especially want to than all the investigators that worked on this case. They did a great job, and we appreciate it very much."

Retirement of Kathy Mularz approved by board members

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba Board of Education met Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, for the board's monthly meeting, and members moved quickly through the meeting's agenda.

Superintendent Chris Moseley noted the school system had received word that a second set of Cares Act ESSER [Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief] money would be coming to the schools. As previously, this is due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Moseley said the system would be receiving $869,421 in this second round of distributions. As for now, he said school officials are "waiting on what and how it can be spent" before making any further decisions for that funding.

In personnel news, the superintendent said longtime employee Kathy Mularz had turned in a letter for retirement after 34 years of service to Elba City Schools. She currently holds the technology coordinator title for the school system.

Moseley said her retirement would be effective July 1, 2021. Board members voted to accept the letter of retirement from Mularz.

With Mularz presenting her retirement letter early, Moseley said this would allow the school system to begin advertising and searching for a technology coordinator replacement. Also, he said if someone is hired early enough, it could allow for some collaboration between Mularz and her replacement.

Moseley said Mularz had served in several different roles for Elba City Schools throughout her 34-year career, and he said he wanted to publicly thank her for her many years of service. Board members echoed that sentiment.

The construction of this home at 537 Adkinson Street in Elba was celebrated Sunday, Feb. 21, by Habitat for Humanity of Coffee County, Alabama. The construction faced many challenges due to COVID-19 and multiple weather delays, but despite it all, the keys were handed over to Tawanna Thomas and her children - Kentana and Kendre - on Sunday.

Coffee County Habitat for Humanity volunteer Candace Vaughan presented a Bible to Tawanna Thomas during the dedication ceremony held Sunday afternoon in Elba by Habitat for Humanity of Coffee County. Vaughan was one of the many volunteers that lent a helping hand and played a vital role in completing the construction of the home for Thomas and her children.

it was soon decided that it would be best to move forward as a cooperative with the county, but Mr. Morrow was all in.

"His role kept growing, and he became a member of the board," Stephens said. "I don't have enough time today to talk about Paul Morrow. He was a great friend and mentor."

Stephens said Morrow donated his mother's home in Elba to Habitat for Humanity of Coffee County. "We sold the house, and the money from that house has gone into about three different houses," Stephens said.

He said there would be a plaque placed at Ms.

Thomas' home noting that it had been dedicated in memory of Paul Morrow.

During the ceremony, Thomas also was presented the keys to her home, as well as, a Bible to keep in the home as a reminder of the importance of the Lord in her family's daily walk.

Some special volunteers recognized Sunday during the ceremony included: Sam Curtis, Bob Turner, Eugene Goolsby, Terry Cauthen, Tammy Sheldon, Shana Demby, Mark and Candace Vaughan, Price Tuley, Charles Welch, and Cindy Crawford; along with anyone else who helped with the construction of this new Habitat home.

Tawanna Thomas and her children, Kentana and Kendre, pose for a photo with members of the Paul Morrow family. Ms. Thomas' new home was dedicated by Coffee County Habitat for Humanity in memory of Paul Morrow. He gave his mother's home to the local Habitat chapter to sell, and those proceeds have helped with the construction of about three different homes by Coffee County Habitat for Humanity, including the Thomas home. Morrow was said to have been a great Habitat for Humanity partner.

Coffee County Schools superintendent provides weekly COVID-19 update, says case numbers continue to decline

Coffee County Schools Superintendent Kevin Killingsworth had better news to report last Wednesday, Feb. 17, with his weekly COVID-19 update.

"This week Coffee County Schools have only six new cases of COVID-19 to report," Killingsworth said. "This is a significant drop since last week."

According to the Feb. 17th report, Zion Chapel School had three student cases, New Brockton Elementary School had one student case, New Brockton High School had one student case, and Kinston School had one student case.

"Our total COVID-19 cases since start of school on August 10 now stands at 193," Killingsworth said. "Numbers in quarantine are also rapidly declining."

He said the system still did not have a date set for mass vaccinations of its employees; however, he confirmed it was not because of a lack of planning or attempting to gain the vaccine from ADPH.

"Our partners are still diligently trying to work through this issue," Killingsworth said. "As we approach the last quarter of this school year, I want to once again thank the employees of the Coffee County School System for their dedication and perseverance during this school year. In my almost 30 years in education, I cannot remember a time in which so many had to sacrifice so much in order for our schools to run effectively and safely."

SPORTS NEWS

Views From

The Pressbox

By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

Our grandson Lawson brought me his math workbook again one afternoon last week and asked me for some help, but after looking at the diagrams showing parallelograms and trapezoids I quickly called for his Nanny to come and take over. If I can't even multiple fractions, there is no way I can help with this homework.

For what it is worth....

 Coaching at a small school can always bring with it unique problems, but at Elba High this year it is a little more troubling than in years past for Tiger baseball coach Glen Johnson. The Tigers have a total of just twelve players on the varsity team, and five of the players also play on the golf team, which means that when the golf team has a match the baseball team doesn't even have enough players to conduct a productive practice. I understand the student-athletes at Elba High enjoy participating in multiple sports; however, when the seasons coincide it can create problems, and often results in the players not being at their best in either sport. I don't expect the administration to limit the activities of the student-athletes, but am just passing along some of the problems coaches face every day.

 Hopes are high all across the area as baseball and softball teams hit the field. At Elba, the Tigers are loaded with returning starters in both sports and anticipate winning seasons and post-season success. Brantley always expects to be successful in both sports and appears to be locked and loaded for another state title run, while over at Kinston and New Brockton the fans are expecting banner years in baseball and softball and can't wait to get started. Zion Chapel isn't expected to enjoy a lot of success in either sport, but something tells me the players could care less what anyone thinks and have other plans. Yep, this is going to be a fun season for the players, coaches and fans.

 The high school basketball season came to a close for the teams in the area last week as the Elba Lady Tigers and Kinston Bulldogs both lost in sub-region action. The Lady Tigers were literally run off the court in a lopsided loss to Geneva County, while the Bulldogs gave J.F. Shields all it could handle and went down fighting. The teams in the area Elba competes in were also knocked out of post-season play as G.W. Long and Arton both watched their seasons end. There is still a lot of prep basketball left to see, and I urge all fans to check out the NFHS webpage and subscribe to the video coverage of the games. It isn't the same as being there, but you don't have to wear a mask.

 In closing... ex-Auburn head football coach Gus Malzahn was back in the news last week when he was named the new head coach at Central Florida. UCF has enjoyed a great deal of success in recent years under various head coaches, and I have no doubt Malzahn will do just fine. Oh yea, it was a little interested to see that Gus made money getting fired at Auburn than he did getting hired at UCF. The ex-coach made over $21 million when he got the axe at Auburn, but got only $11.5 million to become the new coach down in Orlando. I guess when you add it up and figure out Malzahn will cash checks that total over $32 million over the next five years, there is no doubt who the winner is.

Lady Tigers caged in 70-27 sub-region loss

The Elba Lady Tigers challenged the sixth-ranked Geneva County Lady Bulldogs last Monday night in 2A sub-region action and were simply outmatched in a lopsided 70-27 road loss, in Hartford.

Elba cut the Geneva County lead in half at 4-2 early in the first quarter on a basket by Jaylyn Baker, but the Lady Bulldogs scored the next seven points of the quarter to open up an 11-2 lead, and despite a late five-point outburst from Breanna Sanders the Lady Tigers still trailed 16-9 heading into the second stanza.

Geneva County opened the second quarter with an 8-0 run to stretch its lead to 24-9 with 4:50 left in the stanza. Jaylyn Baker scored four points during a brief 4-2 Lady Tiger rally, but the Lady Bulldogs went on a 6-0 run to open up a 32-13 lead with 2:11 remaining in the quarter, and at the half Geneva County was in command with a 37-15 advantage.

Geneva County came out on fire in the third quarter and sparked by a trio of 3-pointers went on an 11-0 run to grab a 48-15 lead with 3:46 remaining in the stanza. Jaylyn Baker broke the long Elba scoring drought with a short jumper with 3:27 left on the clock. However, the Lady Bulldogs answered with a 6-0 run to push their lead to 54-17, and heading into the final stanza Geneva County owned a big 56-22 lead.

Geneva County upped its lead to 60-22 early in the fourth quarter, and while Jaylyn Baker continued to find her way to the basket, the rest of the Lady Tigers continued to struggle and could only watch as the Lady Bulldogs never slowed down and raced to the 70-27 win.

Jaylyn Baker scored 15 points to lead Elba, while Tennessee signee Karoline Striplin scored 23 points, grabbed 11 rebounds, handed out 10 assists and blocked 6 shots to lead Geneva County.

G.C. (70): Davis 4, Alston 10, Boutwell 12, Williams 2, An. Davis 15, White 4, Striplin 23.

Elba (27): Sanders 5, Williams 5, Baker 15, Caldwell 2.

Brantley was led by Tucker Kilcrease with a 78, followed by Luke Kilcrease and Ethan Weed, both with a scorecard of 81, and Carson Jones with an 84.

Elba Tigers shut out 10-0 by Bobcats in baseball opener

The Elba Tigers opened their baseball season Friday afternoon with a 10-0 loss to the Opp Bobcats, at Opp.

Jaden Juarez had the only Elba hit in the six-inning loss, while Carson Wise reached base twice after being hit by a pitch. The Tigers managed to move only two baserunners past first base.

Opp combined 6 hits with 11 walks and 6 Elba errors to plate five earned runs.

Connor Burrow took the loss on the mound as he pitched four and two-thirds innings and allowed five earned runs on six hits and eight walks, while striking out six Bobcat batters. Collin Sauls pitched one inning and allowed no hits, while issuing three walks, and striking out two.

Mickey McCollough honored with monument at Stanhope Elmore High School baseball field

Retired Elba educator, coach, and principal Mickey McCollough received special recognition last weekend at Stanhope Elmore High School in Millbrook, Alabama. McCollough was the first baseball coach at Stanhope Elmore from 1970-1973, and he was honored during "Alumni Weekend" last Saturday, Feb. 20, during a ceremony held between the school's junior varsity and varsity baseball games. He was joined by several members of his family for this special recognition. Last September, a monument was erected outside of the press box of Stanhope Elmore's Furlow Field. That monument was officially dedicated last Saturday, and Coach McCollough was honored to be able to attend the special ceremony with members of his family. McCollough's recognition was the highlight of the day's activities. The monument reads, "Dedicated to Coach Mickey McCollough, Stanhope Elmore's first baseball coach, whose hard work and winning ways was instilled in his athletes for life" - signed Members of the 1970-1971 SEHS First Baseball Team. Mickey McCollough resides in his hometown of Elba, Alabama. His children are Mike McCollough of Dothan, Lance McCollough of Opp, and Sandy (McCollough) Sullivan of Elba. He also enjoys his six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Zion Chapel's Hunter Wambles commits to play football at Millsaps College in Mississippi

Zion Chapel High School held a signing ceremony Friday, Feb. 19, for senior, Hunter Wambles.

Wambles committed to play football for Millsaps College in Jackson, Miss. He also received an academic scholarship to Millsaps College.

Wambles had offers from Faulkner University, McPherson College and a few other colleges and universities.

He said he chose this college over the others because of the academic programs offered, the class sizes, the coaching staff and their athletic program.

Wambles has played football since age six. He played on both offense and defense, but his favorite position is center because he says, "I am in the middle of the action."

Wambles hopes to play center or guard at Millsaps but is willing to play wherever needed. He says he is excited for the next chapter of his football career to begin.

Hunter Wambles officially accepted an offer from Millsaps College last Friday, Feb. 19, to play football for the Majors as he signed a commitment letter with the college.

Scale Back Alabama kicks off 2021 program with exciting changes

The beginning of a new year is a perfect time to commit or re-commit to a healthier lifestyle and develop positive habits along the way. Scale Back Alabama, the state's largest wellness program, begins this year on March 1 with some new and exciting changes.

This year, Scale Back Alabama will be an entirely virtual program. Participants will register online and choose one to three goals to work on throughout the 10-week program. Each week, participants will receive a challenge and a health tip that will encourage them to reach their goal(s). Weight loss is now optional, and participants will select their own wellness goals.

It is easy to register as an individual participant. Two-person teams are no longer required.

Visit scalebackalabama.com/member/register.

To get started, participants will answer a few questions that will help them choose the best goals for them.

By March 1, participants will receive an email from Scale Back Alabama with instructions on how to access their personalized user dashboard and set wellness goals for the program.

Registration closes on February 28.

Important: Public weigh-in sites are no longer available. Some workplaces or organizations may host private sites if they can do so safely. Weigh-ins and outs are no longer required to participate in the program.

Prizes

All prizes will be on an individual basis; there will be no team prizes.

At the end of each week, participants will indicate on their user dashboard if they did or did not complete that week's challenge. Participants that did complete the challenge on any given week will be entered into a drawing for that week's prize.

Each week, participants will indicate on their user dashboard if they did or did not meet their pre-set goal(s) that week. For every week that participants meet at least one of their goals, their name will go into a prize drawing to be held at the end of the program.

All prizes will be in the form of an Amazon e-gift card.

Scale Back Alabama is a public awareness program hosted by the Alabama Hospital Association and the Alabama Department of Public Health, with generous support from Blue Cross Blue Shield of Alabama.
